| Document Type | Business Requirements Document (BRD) |
| Version | 1.0 (Draft for Review) |
| Prepared On | 15 October 2026 |
| Document Owner | TBD |
| Approved By | TBD |

1. Project Overview

VPro Skills is an education technology company that offers technical training programs. The company wants a professional, responsive sample web page that shows its upcoming training batches in one place.

The page will help interested students quickly see which courses are coming up, such as Forward Deployed Engineer (FDE), Agentic AI, and Generative AI, and explore the details of each batch.

This is a demonstration page. It will use sample data and a simple design so the business can review the idea before any full website work is planned.

2. Business Objectives

| ID | Objective |
|---|---|
| BO-01 | Give VPro Skills a clear, professional way to present its upcoming training batches. |
| BO-02 | Help interested students find and understand available courses quickly. |
| BO-03 | Show the VPro Skills brand in a clean and modern way. |
| BO-04 | Make batch information easy to read on desktop, tablet, and mobile devices. |
| BO-05 | Provide a simple working sample that stakeholders can review and give feedback on. |

3. Business Problem

Students interested in VPro Skills training need an easy way to see which batches are coming up and what each course offers. Without a single, well-organized page:

- Students may not know which courses are available or when new batches start.
- Course and batch details may be hard to compare.
- The company has no simple, professional page to show to students and stakeholders.
- Information may not display well on mobile phones, which many students use.

A dedicated upcoming batches page solves these problems by putting all key information in one clear, consistent place.

4. Project Scope

4.1 In Scope

- A single, responsive web page for VPro Skills upcoming batches.
- Display of the VPro Skills company name.
- Display of upcoming batches for FDE, Agentic AI, Generative AI, and other technical courses (additional courses: TBD).
- Organized presentation of batch information using course cards or a similar layout.
- A simple way for users to explore more details about each course and batch.
- Use of sample data for courses and batches.
- Support for desktop, tablet, and mobile screens.

4.2 Out of Scope

- Student login or registration.
- Online enrollment, payment gateways, or fee collection.
- Learning Management System (LMS) features.
- Assessments, quizzes, or certificates.
- Backend systems, databases, or integrations with other software.
- Contact forms or lead capture (contact details and process: TBD).
- Multi-page website or content beyond upcoming batches.

5. Target Users

| User Group | Description | What They Need |
|---|---|---|
| Prospective Students | Learners or working professionals interested in technical training. | A quick, clear view of upcoming courses and batch details. |
| VPro Skills Team | Management, sales, and training staff. | A professional page to review, demonstrate, and share. |
| Project Stakeholders | People reviewing the sample before further development. | A working example that shows layout, content, and behavior. |

---
